Computer Science

	B-SWU	B-DS	K-CS	K-SD	K-DS
ILO 1	To identify, define, and delimit a relevant research problem within Software Development	To identify, define, and delimit a relevant research problem within Data Science	To identify, define, and delimit a relevant research problem within Computer Science	To identify, define, and delimit a relevant research problem within Software Design	To identify, define, and delimit a relevant research problem within Data Science
ILO 2	To identify, justify, and describe relevant means for addressing the research problem. These include academic theories, methods, literature, and tools	To identify, justify, and describe relevant means for addressing the research problem. These include academic theories, methods, literature, and tools	To identify, justify, and describe relevant means for addressing the research problem. These include academic theories, methods, literature, and tools	To identify, justify, and describe relevant means for addressing the research problem. These include academic theories, methods, literature, and tools	To identify, justify, and describe relevant means for addressing the research problem. These include academic theories, methods, literature, and tools
ILO 3	To combine the selected means, and apply them in a concerted effort	To combine the selected means, and apply them in a concerted effort	To analyze and relate the selected means to the current state of the art	To analyze and relate the selected means to the current state of the art	To analyze and relate the selected means to the current state of the art
ILO 4	To report clearly the achieved results using appropriate scientific terminology and methods	To report clearly the achieved results using appropriate scientific terminology and methods	To combine the selected means, develop them further if necessary, and apply them in a concerted effort	To combine the selected means, develop them further if necessary, and apply them in a concerted effort	To combine the selected means, develop them further if necessary, and apply them in a concerted effort
ILO 5	To discuss the achieved results and relate them to existing work	To discuss the achieved results and relate them to existing work	To report clearly the achieved results using appropriate scientific terminology and methods	To report clearly the achieved results using appropriate scientific terminology and methods	To report clearly the achieved results using appropriate scientific terminology and methods
ILO 6			To discuss the achieved results and relate them to the current state of the art	To discuss the achieved results and relate them to the current state of the art	To discuss the achieved results and relate them to the current state of the art